Customer Reviews

I live in Grace Presbyterian Village in Dallas, Texas. This is a retirement community like no other. I happened to see this book on a table one day when I was in the main building for my noon lunch. It was there again the next day after I was leaving Bible Study. When it was still there another day I decided that it had not just been forgotten by someone but was one of the many books available for the residents to read. Not knowing who it belonged to and intrigued by the title I took it home to read. I thought at first that it was just a book on Genesis, which to a certain extent it was, but it was more than that. It was more like a journey of the author which she was sharing with her readers. In reading the book of Genesis in the various bibles (mostly Gideon's left in rooms or cabins she happened to be in) L'Engle reveals as much about her life as she does about God's creation of the universe. When I finished the book I began to read it again which is something I have never done with a book before. I decided to see if I could get a personal copy for myself as I felt guilty taking something that I didn't know who it belonged to. The young man who was waiting on me at Barnes and Noble and checking to see about the availability of the book remarked that she was absolutely his favorite author however he was not familiar with this book. He was the one who suggested that I might be able to find it through this source. I asked if he had other books by her and he took me to the Young Readers section (a surprise to this 81 yr old "young" reader) where a boxed set of books including His personal all time favorite "A Wrinkle in Time" was the only one on the shelves. I bought it thinking that some of my young readers (grand and great grandkids) might like as birthday or Christmas gifts.
